The service was full, formal, and the guests were dressed in the latest fashions of gowns, hats, palms, and greenery, the bride and bridegroom standing beneath a floral arch at the altar. The bride wore a gown of white tulle, and was carried away by her father, who was a charmingly simple dresser of ivory white, and edged with pearl embroidery. The bridesmaid wore a gown of white tulle, and was carried away by her father, who was a charmingly simple dresser of ivory white, and edged with pearl embroidery. WINTER, AND THE COMPLEXION.

Now that the winter is at hand, fair women who possess tender skins are made miserable, but so lady-like have the slightest trouble with her skin if she gives it scientific and judicious treatment. If you would keep your face clear, and free from blemishes during the winter, you must use Valaise, the invaluable skin cream, and in autumn and winter use it in spring and summer.

Valaise has wonderful powers of cleansing, cleansing, and making the skin beautiful. It is Valaise that renders the baby's skin so clear, and the complexion of the youth that produces a smooth, transparent surface on the cheek and forehead, and keeps the pores of the face clear, and the ugly ravages of time, illness, or weather are rapidly removed, and the face, and the complexion, are radiant. And for another good point about Valaise is that it is absolutely non-hair perfecting; it does not cause the hair to fall out, or to become more luxuriant.

Valaise Soap, perfect for toilet use; it soothes and cleanses the skin, softens hair before the 2 1/2 per cent. of Valaise is added.

Valaise Snow Lotion is a delightful preparation for outdoor use. It cools and refreshes the face, imparts a firm, fresh appearance, and removes greenness, coarseness, and shine. 2/6, and 1/6.

Valaise Powder is a dainty, unobtrusive powder for greasy, over-pink skin; while Norvina is a perfect skin powder for dry, parched skin. 1/6, 1/2, 3/4, 1/2, 1/4, 1/8, 1/16, 1/32, 1/64, 1/128, 1/256, 1/512, 1/1024, 1/2048, 1/4096, 1/8192, 1/16384, 1/32768, 1/65536, 1/131072, 1/262144, 1/524288, 1/1048576, 1/2097152, 1/4194304, 1/8388608, 1/16777216, 1/33554432, 1/67108864, 1/134217728, 1/268435456, 1/536870912, 1/1073741824, 1/2147483648, 1/4294967296, 1/8589934592, 1/17179869184, 1/34359738368, 1/68719476736, 1/137438953472, 1/274877906944, 1/549755813888, 1/1099511627776, 1/2199023255552, 1/4398046511104, 1/8796093022208, 1/17592186044416, 1/35184372088832, 1/70368744177664, 1/140737488355328, 1/281474976710656, 1/562949953421312, 1/1125899906842624, 1/2251799813685248, 1/4503599627370496, 1/9007199254740992, 1/18014398509481984, 1/36028797018963968, 1/72057594037927936, 1/144115188075855872, 1/288230376151711744, 1/576460752303423488, 1/1152921504606846976, 1/2305843009213693952, 1/4611686018427387904, 1/9223372036854775808, 1/18446744073709551616, 1/36893488147419103232, 1/73786976294838206464, 1/147573952589676412928, 1/295147905179352825856, 1/590295810358705651712, 1/1180591620717411303424, 1/2361183241434822606848, 1/4722366482869645213696, 1/9444732965739290427392, 1/18889465931478580854784, 1/37778931862957161709568, 1/75557863725914323419136, 1/151115727451828646838272, 1/302231454903657293676544, 1/604462909807314587353088, 1/1208925819614629174706176, 1/2417851639229258349412352, 1/4835703278458516698824704, 1/9671406556917033397649408, 1/19342813113834066795298816, 1/38685626227668133590597632, 1/77371252455336267181195264, 1/154742504910672534362390528, 1/309485009821345068724781056, 1/618970019642690137449562112, 1/1237940039285380274899124224, 1/2475880078570760549798248448, 1/4951760157141521099596496896, 1/9903520314283042199192993792, 1/19807040628566084398385987584, 1/39614081257132168796771975168, 1/79228162514264337593543950336, 1/158456325028528675187087900672, 1/316912650057057350374175801344, 1/633825300114114700748351602688, 1/1267650600228229401496703205376, 1/2535301200456458802993406410752, 1/5070602400912917605986812821504, 1/10141204801825835211973625643008, 1/20282409603651670423947251286016, 1/40564819207303340847894502572032, 1/81129638414606681695789005144064, 1/162259276829213363391778010288128, 1/324518553658426726783556020576256, 1/649037107316853453567112041152512, 1/1298074214633706907134224082305024, 1/2596148429267413814268448164610048, 1/5192296858534827628536896329220096, 1/10384593717069655257073792658440192, 1/20769187434139310514147585316880384, 1/41538374868278621028295170633760768, 1/83076749736557242056590341267521536, 1/166153499473114484113180682535043072, 1/332306998946228968226361365070086144, 1/664613997892457936452722730140172288, 1/1329227995784915872905445460280344576, 1/2658455991569831745810890920560689152, 1/5316911983139663491621781841121378304, 1/10633823966279326983243563682242756608, 1/21267647932558653966487127364485513216, 1/42535295865117307932974254728971026432, 1/85070591730234615865948509457942052864, 1/170141183460469231731897018915884105728, 1/340282366920938463463794037831768211456, 1/680564733841876926927588075663536422912, 1/1361129467683753853855176151327072845824, 1/2722258935367507707710352302654145691648, 1/5444517870735015415420704605308291383296, 1/10889035741470030830841409210616582766592, 1/21778071482940061661682818421233165533184, 1/43556142965880123323365636842466331066368, 1/87112285931760246646731273684932662132736, 1/174224571863520493293462547369855244265472, 1/348449143727040986586925094739710488530944, 1/696898287454081973173850189479420977061888, 1/1393796574908163946347700378958441954123776, 1/2787593149816327892695400757916883908247552, 1/5575

SUPERFLUOUS HAIRS.

The chief danger in using anything to remove superfluous hairs are, first, that the depilatory is harmless; secondly, that the hair does not grow again; and thirdly, that it removes the roots of the hair. To be successful (and there are few really successful hair removers) a depilatory must act practically upon the roots of the hair, to stumpy them off the hair from the surface is to invite a stronger growth of a more objectionable nature than at first existed. To be a success the depilatory must act in a harmless manner entirely shrieve up and destroy the roots of the hairy after which it cannot grow again. It is this action in the use of Dr. Coverdale's famous depilatory that has made it famous. A few treatments destroy the roots, and ultimately the hair dies silently. Or, far usually, suddenly. Price by post, 10/6.

entical with those which the Bureau

medical with those which the fusion party was formed to promote. We welcomed the amalgamation of the free-trade and protectionists for two main reasons. First, because of the probability that the function of the new party should hasten the end of those old inter-tribe jealousies which were gradually fading through the lapse of time. The result was shown that they were too sanguine. We also welcomed the amalgamation for the agency which threw out of our midst the hostility to the perpetuation of a spirit of dissidence between Victoria and New South Wales, and to the rivalry of the two main creeds which have for many years distinguished the two leading States in the Commonwealth. We welcomed the amalgamation as the best available agent for the execution of the chief tasks of the Commonwealth, the development of the people, and the defence of Australia. We thought that for the first time a party had come into being which could do its duty in the North, in the South, and in the West, and that any class of party in order that the country's Government might be carried on, Mr. Fisher has now stated that his party will devote itself to all these objects. It will stamp out the embers of provincialism. It will open the eyes of the people with the opening and settlement of the Northern Territory. It will be the best and most matured plan for national defence, and as a corollary give universal assistance to immigration. If the new Ministers and their supporters give their attention to these tasks they will be able to usurp the place of the Opposition as the earnest assistance of the people. The Opposition, it is certain, will exhibit none of the spirit which animated Mr. Fisher and his allies when they came to the end of their last reign of power. It will do nothing to hinder the progress of the Government, and its voice endorsed by the people, and is identical with the one for which Liberals themselves were responsible. But so soon as the Government departs from these lines it can assure of a criticism which will be as diligent, able, and well informed. It will be a criticism which will be as just, and only not in that of the Commonwealth, is the work of an Opposition confined to the debates in either House. In the House no bitter criticism will at first be confined to matters of administration and detail, and to the minutiae of the Government's work, and so far beyond the bounds of the Constitution.

But it has to be remembered that certain subjects of the new Government to which labour owes a large amount of support do not depend for their sanction on Parlia-

...close. The new Ministry cannot proceed with its schemes for the nationalisation of industry or for the enactment of uniform industrial legislation without another referendum; in other words, without the approval of the people. It is to be hoped that the Ministers will content themselves for the next three years, after passing their land tax, with measures non-contentious in principle, in the hope of retaining their moderate friends. Nevertheless, we may be assured that the Council which proposes them from outside will be able to make them more palatable before their schemes for the establishment of a bureaucratic community are put to the popular vote. It will be one of the most useful functions of the Opposition to inform the popular mind on these subjects before the choice has to be made. We need no more say in face of our own defeat, the Opposition should not pick up such a prospect with confidence. It may expect that within three years a large number of persons will have become reconciled to the coalition of the free-trade and protectionist sections which they at present regard as irreconcilable. It may expect that the impact ranks of the Labour Party will find the reaction which, either through disappointment or active disapproval, always acts against the Government. But obviously the Opposition can hope for no success unless, guided by its investigation, it remains on the alert to carry out until the date of the next election. It must attach no weight to the rumour that Mr. Deakin is about to seek the rest from politics which he has so well earned. He is by universal consent the man best fitted to preserve the Liberal Liberals, which are the only Liberals worth the name, and to set himself in that work of organisation which the Liberals must undertake, and which he will continue to inspire by example. The men who will undertake the duty of organising the electors, and from whom the candidates of the future must be chosen.

THE MAN OF MANY MILLIONS.

Philosophise as we may, the fact remains that the most widely-interesting personalities of the day are the multi-millionaires. Some are when a simple millionaire was something of a phenomenon, but that is no longer the case. There are now a million, or even two or three millions, may be rich indeed in relation to the ordinary and special wants of life; but he is poor, and of little financial momentum, in comparison with the new generation of men whose wealth would make even the old "rich man," as to-day classified, is man possessed of anything from $100,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 of money, or its equivalent. Such men are peculiar to our times. Within the period of a few years they have appeared. They have existed before as a class, though in the late Roman and in the middle ages, but they were men of vast wealth were not unknown. And while the prevailing sentiment of the moment may provide the hope that they will not outlive their money, it is not so guaranteed that they will not, and in still more inflated forms. The old-fashioned millionaire was generally an individual who the next two or three days. It is also possible that the probability of his acceptance of the position, the Attorney-General would not give any definite answer, but indicated that he would be meeting the President at Washington, that you will not take it," suggested the interviewer. "You can say what you think right," was the curt response. "Does that mean you will not?" "It enlighten you." "Why?" "I can't say they; 'can't' might mean 'won't,' or 'unable.' You can make what you can out of it." "You are going to meet the Cabinet to-day, but this question was not further discussed, it being regarded as one for the Attorney-General to decide.

WIDENING THE AVENUE.—This matter came up at a special meeting of the works committee of the City Council yesterday. Correspondence was read from the Premier's secretary, stating that the Government's consideration had been given in widening the street on the eastern side by not more than 30ft. and after the public works had been completed the public works had been proceeded with the work on certain conditions specified, such as the removal and replacement of the existing buildings and the widening of the lodges in front of Sydney Hospital, and so forth. The Lord Mayor, who presided, was also sent to the chairman of the directors, previously mentioned, to be removed from the premises. So far only the perishable goods and the ship's stores have been recovered. A few of their meeting of the directors will be held next Wednesday, to receive replies and to deal further with the matter. The ship is still in the water, but is high up at the end of the breakwater.

THE NEW ZEALAND ESCAPE. COMPLETE DISAPPEARANCE. THE FACE AT THE WINDOW.

WELLINGTON, Friday.
Nothing has been seen of the "New Zealand" since its escape on Tuesday morning, when the police at Bunburyth allowed him to slip through their fingers. The investigation is now showing in many false reports of the escapee's alleged whereabouts, all such reports being, however, without foundation. Some mounted reporters saw a face "at the window" of a house in the city, and immediately summoned the police. The place was surrounded and the occupant was disturbed. He was a man of about 30 years of age, a fair, well-carpeted officer, some repairs business, or by the fortunate ownership of large tracts of land, which, under the pressure of demand, met with remarkable appreciations of value. He was rare, however, among the vast number of millionaires of to-day, whose immense accumulations are the result of industrial expansion on a scale never before possible. Not only does the modern money appeal to the popular imagination as being with almost all things of this world, the things of life, but he profoundly interests the student for the part which he plays in the industrial economy of the time, and the influence—more subtle and direct than that of even the king of old—which he exercises over the destinies of the fallen-creatures, the multi-millionaire, therefore, challenges the interest, not only as a personality, but as a problem.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie is not the master of the generation of multi-millionaires directed in any degree to the well-known gentlemen with a long German name, who remain concealed somewhere in the Western States of America; he is one of the most interesting. His work should be set in one context. The history of the Carnegie family is, in regard to the Tarpinian Way section of the street, that, said the Lord Marjori, was a very narrow strip of land, and the trees were to be removed or interfered with. However, that section could remain for some time, and the portion from Bridge street to the Tarpinian Way section was removed. It resolved to recommend the council to call for tenders for the section from Bridge street to the Tarpinian Way section. The council hoped to see the work started not later than the middle of May or the beginning of June.

Qualifications of a Clergyman.—The question of the qualifications of the clergy cropped up at the meeting of the committee. The minister voiced the desire of the people for an educated as well as a pious minister. In 1911 all candidates for Holy Orders in England would be required to pass a high standard. The Primate dealt with the question of an educated clergy, and paid a tribute to the Presbyterian Church for its high standards of education.

As to the qualifications of a minister, he should first be sure that he was called to the work. Then he should be thoroughly instructed in the Bible. Then came the study of homiletics—the minister should have the power of exposition, and putting his message in the most popular form, so men were not afraid that anything would be got out of them at all. After that, they should be acquainted with the history of the church, and the life of the great men of the church. Then came the study of the various branches of the Bible, and the study of the various branches of the Bible. Then came the study of the various branches of the Bible, and the study of the various branches of the Bible.

PERILES DISASTER.

SHIPWRECK RELIEF SOCIETY'S DONATIONS.

A special meeting of the committee of the Royal Shipwreck Relief and Human Society was held on Monday evening, the 2nd inst., to decide what action should be taken in regard to the fund for the relief of the periles. The fund was inaugurated in 1880, and has since that time been a source of relief to many who have suffered severe losses as a result of the wreck of the Aberdeen liner "The Periles." The fund was established in the following telegram, which was despatched to Alderman R. Vincent, Mayor of Glasgow:

"Telegraphing you in value £100 through the Royal Shipwreck Relief and Human Society. Periles Fund. Should more be required my society is ready to send." The fund was inaugurated in 1880, and has since that time been a source of relief to many who have suffered severe losses as a result of the wreck of the Aberdeen liner "The Periles." The fund was established in the following telegram, which was despatched to Alderman R. Vincent, Mayor of Glasgow:
